Williamstown Police Department

INFORMATION FROM THE REPORTING PARTY: Obtain as much of the following information as possible when a request for service is received: [81.2.3]

B.1.nn. Name and address of complainant, and call-back number;

B.1.oo. Location of the incident;

B.1.pp. Nature of the incident being reported:

B.1.pp.1) WHAT is wrong, is happening, or happened? Are there any weapons present, persons injured or other hazards?

B.1.pp.2) WHERE is it happening, or did it happen?

B.1.pp.3) WHEN did it happen, will it occur, did the caller notice?

B.1.pp.4) HOW is the caller involved, how many are involved, how often does it occur?

B.1.pp.5) WHO is involved?

B.1.pp.6) WHY is it happening, did it happen, or is the person there?

B.2. REPORTS OF SUSPICIOUS BEHAVIOR

One function of the police is to investigate activity that may be predictive of a crime about to occur. With most calls from citizens, they report behavior that is indicative of criminal behavior or about people who may be in need of police service. However, people occasionally report that someone is suspicious merely because they are unfamiliar to a particular area or neighborhood. Reports of this nature can be driven by implicit bias and have sometimes focused on people of various ethnic groups, particularly people who are African American or Latino.

On one hand, the Department must investigate suspicious behavior, and encourage citizens to report it, but we also must be careful not to contribute to the cumulative effect on people who have been repeatedly questioned by police.

When a dispatcher receives a call from a citizen concerning activity that is behavior-based, a unit should be assigned to investigate. But should a caller merely report someone in their neighborhood who is unknown to them, the dispatcher should ask additional questions to discern whether the persons behavior is suspicious. Where there is no suspicious behavior described, the dispatcher shall contact the Officer in Charge and advise him/her of the nature of call. Superior officers have the authority to direct that no unit be assigned in those cases where the activity is not behavior-based.

CREATING INCIDENTS: Dispatchers shall create an incident using the IMC software system. The following fields are critical to properly documenting the incident:

- B.2.a.* Incident number (assigned by the software); [81.2.3(a)]
- B.2.b.* Date and time that the incident was reported (usually filled in by the software); [81.2.3(b)]
- B.2.c.* Name and address of the complainant (if given); [81.2.3(c)]
- B.2.d.* Incident type (selected by the dispatcher); [81.2.3(d)]
- B.2.e.* Incident location; [81.2.3(e)]
- B.2.f.* Responding employees, primary and backup; [81.2.3(f)]
- B.2.g.* Time of dispatch (usually entered by software); [81.2.3(g)]
- B.2.h.* Time of arrival (usually entered by software); [81.2.3(h)]
- B.2.i.* Time employee returned back in service; [81.2.3(i)] and
- B.2.j.* Disposition or status of reported incident (entered by officer or dispatcher). [81.2.3(j)]

REPORTS RECEIVED BY MAIL, E-MAIL OR TELEPHONE [82.2.5]

a. An alternate crime reporting system will be used by the department in certain circumstances to permit persons to report an offense via telephone or fax machine, the U.S. mail or through the Internet. Complainants may not need or want a police car responding to their home, for example for a stolen bicycle or simply to report a crime for insurance purposes.

b. The alternate report-taking function serves as an opportunity to eliminate unnecessary police response to specific situations in which life or property is not being currently threatened, or property has been the object of attack and, given specific criteria, there would be no immediate advantage to an officer response. If no perpetrator is present, no investigative leads are available, no evidence is available to collect and the report is intended for information purposes only, alternative reporting may be used.

c. When using the alternative reporting program the dispatcher will file an incident report as well as a Daily Log entry.

d. When crime or incident reports are received through the mail, the Chief of Police will determine if an investigation should be started.
